PROGRAM SPOTLIGHT

With a variety of unique Career Education programs, students have the ability to gain a certificate and start in the career of their choice. Below are just a few highlighted programs available at local Orange County Region California community colleges.

Entrepreneurship and Small Business Management (Coastline Community College)

The Entrepreneurship and Small Business Management program offered at Coastline Community College, helps students learn to start and operate their own business. The program offers students the opportunity to learn basic business and management skills. The specialized curriculum will help students evaluate business opportunities, prepare a business plan, plan advertising and sales promotions, learn marketing skills and understand financial management. This program can help prospective entrepreneurs launch.

Digital Arts & Media (Golden West College)

The Digital Arts & Media programs provide formal training for individuals who seek entry into the rapidly growing field of digital arts and media, encompassing digital video production, audio recording, applied design, digital imaging, graphic design principles, layout and design, and web page design. Students utilize the latest tools, and sizable projects are undertaken in each class providing the students with an opportunity to add the projects to their portfolios and knowledge to their skill sets. In terms of employment, a feature of the digital arts and media labor market is the trend toward a "gig economy" that employs people as freelancers for short-term projects to build a website or design a logo. Program participants are positioned for success in this economy, and many are hired by temporary employment agencies or by small firms. The Digital Arts and Media Program at Golden West College was awarded a Strong Workforce Star in 2017 for a high number of graduates that were able to find employment in their field of study.
